THE STARFISH PRINCIPLE

An elderly man saw a child standing on a beach throwing starfish into the ocean. Thousands of starfish, stranded by the outgoing tide, lay on the beach around them.

"Why are you throwing starfish into the ocean?" The man asked the child.

"If I don't, they'll die."

The man looked around. "But with all these starfish you can't possibly expect to make a difference."

The child picked up another starfish, tossed it into the ocean, and said,

"It made a difference to that one."
